

Invited Speaker Series in Educational and Counselling Psychology
School / Applied Child Psychology
McGill University

Friday, January 19th, 2018

3715 Peel Street

Coach House, room 200 (CH 200)

1:00 - 3:30 pm

Wine and cheese will follow

Fredrick A. Schrank, PhD, ABPP

Use and Interpretation of the
*Woodcock-Johnson IV
Tests of Achievement

Abstract: Learn how to use and interpret the Woodcock-Johnson IV Tests of Achievement from the Senior Author, Dr. Fred Schrank. Dr. Schrank will explain the administration and scoring procedures of Woodcock-Johnson IV achievement battery and will provide expert guidance on how to use and interpret the tests and clusters.

Participant Skill Level: This workshop will provide an overview of the WJ IV achievement battery, including a hands-on opportunity to become familiar with the test materials. Insights on how to use and interpret the tests, clusters, and variation procedures will be useful for those who are learning---as well as those who already have practical experience using---the WJ IV Tests of Achievement.

SPACE IS LIMITED! PLEASE RSVP by TUES January 16th, 6PM by e-mailing Shalini Sivathasan at shalini.sivathasan@mail.mcgill.ca

Sponsored by the School/Applied Child Psychology Program (Department of Educational and Counselling Psychology), the School Psychology Student Association, and the Summit Centre for Education, Research & Training (SCERT)

McGill

Faculty of Education

Department of Educational and Counselling Psychology

